

Environmental issues are one of the issues that concern global public opinion, as the countries of the world strive to protect the environment from any aggression, as environmental pollution poses a threat to human life and other living beings, which is such as corruption in the land that is forbidden by law and law, and attention has turned to education, education, dissemination and promotion of education and the culture of environmental citizenship, through socialization institutions as well as civil society in order to instill a culture of environmental education among young people and as a result, it aims To work on providing the individual with environmental education, and occupies an important place in the development of environmental awareness, where the study reached several results, the most important of which are: Providing students with sound habits and trends that achieve environmental protection, preservation and maintenance, and teaching them how to make appropriate decisions about it, and promoting positive behavior among generations because preserving the environment is everyone's responsibility and not only the responsibility of government agencies.