

Retail began with bartering in ancient times, evolving with the use of coins for standardized trade.