

Because different EHR systems are used in Palestinian hospitals, it is not always possible to efficiently transfer and/or share patient information between different healthcare delivery establishments. Probably, the first step in addressing these issues is to achieve consensus on the important features that need to be considered when planning for, designing, developing, implementing, piloting, evaluating, maintaining, upgrading, and/or using EHRs with embedded CDSSs.