

Sexism Nora and Torvald's marriage is based on stereotypes, with each character defining their roles based on societal expectations rather than individual needs.