

To be honest, when I read this question, I feel confused because Palestine, no matter what we do for it, is not too much for it. This opportunity is good for Gaza students who have been deprived of education during this period. I want to use my coming to Ireland to attend conferences and events to represent the State of Palestine and apply what I will study on the reality, also to obtain a special job opportunity upon returning to Gaza, also to improve the quality of science in Palestine and establish training to qualify new students. Perhaps after my deep study of conflict and peace, I can write and embody what happened in Gaza in a book that remains in my memory first and in the memory of future generations. My mother always tells me that the homeland, its air and its sea deserve to do something for it, and I carry out my mother's will in the way I can, each person has his own way of loving the homeland, and we young people have the education that gives us the power to speak with strength and confidence that the speech is based on well thought out foundations.
