

which ran servers that were breached for multiple organizations, Prudential Financial, Progress Software itself, and others. The MOVEit breach and other high-profile hacks have led to the SEC requiring public companies to issue disclosures within four days of discovering a cybersecurity incident