

Then they all talked about something else, until it was time for Pooh and Piglet to go home together.