

The success of the construction project depends on several steps, firstly planning and scheduling the project, which we develop a detailed project plan that determines the schedules. we move on to permits and regulatory approvals to obtain permits and approvals before starting construction then we plan the site and then install the facilities, which are the installation of basic facilities including water, gas, electricity and sewage lines, and then pouring concrete for foundations panels and other structural elements.