

New Year's Day The action of the play is set at Christmastime, Nora and Torvald both look forward to New Year's as the start of a new, happier phase in their lives. In the new year, Torvald will start his new job, and he anticipates with excitement the extra money and admiration the job will bring him. They both must become new people and face radically changed ways of living.