

My name is Sinbad the Sailor.through the Persian Gulf in a hot summer day.I travelled from Baghdad to Basra, and there the captain of a merchant ship accepted to take me to the Far East in order to buy and sell goods.I remember that the captain sailed his ship safely from Basra, down Shatt Al-Arab.I was born to a wealthy family in the surroundings of Baghdad.As a result, I was obliged to become a merchant sailor.I've made seven voyages.
