

Takes place before the security community or software developer knows about the vulnerability or has been able to fix it .