

Studying face to face and studying online are two ways of learning. On one hand, face to face learning provides learning with peers, discussion and collaboration.