

The increase of perceived prominence of products and brands being placed intentionally leads to negative attitudes and beliefs (van Reijmersdal, Neijens, & Smit, 2009). The same seems to be applying to social media.