

Continuously discovering, analysing, defining, classifying and protecting data is not an easy task. A strong foundation must be established to uncover common data discovery practices. Diagnostic, treatment and organization source