

The rules and generally accepted procedures that evolve in a community for determining what government does and how government outlays are financed.