The advantage of planting a garden at school: Students who spend time in school gardens are more likely to be creative and imaginative.give life a lot of inspiration, and enhance their ability to create and innovate caring for living plants and observing their growth teaches student empathy and the important of nurturing living organisms fostering a positive school environment and promoting a sence of belonging