

Example There are entertainment establishments that use AR on floors through projection. The projector is mounted on the ceiling to project images onto the floor; when someone walks on it, sensors detect their movement and adjust the display accordingly.