

o The average extension rates in the East African graben system, 0.4–1 mm/yr, is less than those at a slow moving constructive plate boundaries such as the nearby Red Sea or Gulf of Aden.