

Online shopping, a form of electronic commerce, enables consumers to purchase goods or services directly from sellers through the internet, using either a web browser or a mobile application.