

Yes, they do, merchants want to know who their customers are and they want the opportunity to follow up with those shoppers.