

: it uses words and commands along with symbols and numbers. It is classified into two types Structured and object – oriented programming