

Introduction } Personal computers are common tools in all areas of life. } New forms of learning have developed. } College course does not have to be a quarter or semester any longer. } Computers offer many new ways to communicate.