

If we do not have the ability to assess our activities over a period of time, then we do not have the ability to facilitate accountability on a large scale.