

When using this tool, you write a statement of the situation as it currently exists. The desired state should include concrete details and should not contain any information about possible causes or solutions.