

Google as a powerful platform consists of three key resources, namely the index, algorithm, and computing power. In addition, the mobile operating system Android and a global infrastructure are also valuable resources of the brand. Finally, computing power is the key to the other resources.