

These are wave energy devices which convert the energy of the waves into air pressure. The Oscillating Water Column, (OWC) consist of a partly submerged hollow chamber fixed directly at the shoreline which converts wave energy into air pressure.