

Of course, work isn't everything. Spending time with friends and family can make you happier and more balanced.