

This uneven charge distribution creates an electrical pole in the molecule.