1- Background Visible Light Communication (VLC) is an emerging technology that uses light to transmit data. However, the prospect of using lasers in a way that's adaptable to consumer electronics and regular environments is a growing field of interest. The utilization of lasers for communication isn't new; it's been in play for fiber optics and free-space optical communication.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com