

(IoT) associated with device-to-device connectivity was initially referred to as embedded system network or pervasive computing. As a result, various smart devices such as a smartwatch, smartphones, smart light/bulbs, cameras, and home assistance (Amazon Alexa, Google Assistance) are available per user/home Alabdulsalam et al. [2018].