

Thermoregulation is the maintenance of a relatively constant core body temperature.