

FDA has major responsibility to externally audit manufacturing operations to see if we are in compliance with cGMP regulation. FDA has the responsibility to protect the consumer and can recommend a recall product if a product is contaminated, miss-labeled or is not manufacture in compliance with cGMP regulations. Company has the responsibility to internally ensure the integrity of products??