

Nobody wants their child to grow up without guidance which is why parents are sometimes strict. Parental guidance is a big factor for many families with adolescents occurring in their children, they are at the age where they are confused and don't know what to do. Parents are there to lead them in making decisions when they can not decide on their own. They want their children to grow up with proper guidance by choosing the people they go with.