

Giving discount coupons to devoted consumers and social media influencers, creating an advertisement with a model and posting it on social networking sites, and finally having the advertising staff actively participate in marketing and promotional activities to boost sales.