

She started waving her wand at them and the bright light appeared againThe two girls agreed because there was no other way.