

Nowadays, you could hear about many jobs that have never been existed before. The job requires from the person who want to work as a balloonner to be easygoing as he will spend a lot of time with the passengers. Moreover, he should know the distances and able to read maps from above because he might drive for days. you could hear about taster who teste food for people. You could not imagine that these jobs are reals. What do you think?