

Adjust the slit mask on the front of the light source so that five light rays from the light source shine across the top of the ray table line on the table.