

In conclusion, while there are disadvantages to being a teaching assistant, I believe the advantages outweigh them. Helping students reach their full potential is very rewarding, and the job allows me to grow personally and professionally.