

Women may feel more anxious than men due to hormonal changes, social pressures, and upbringing that encourages emotional expression.