

In connection with electronic devices, the term optical refers to the frequency range 10^{12} – 3×10^{16} Hz which includes infrared (IR) and ultraviolet (UV) radiation as well as the visible spectrum. A selection of semiconductor optical transducers is shown in figure 2.100.