

Trainee: I was wondering if you could go over the attendance policy with me. I have some family commitments and I was curious how they might impact my studies here. During these sessions, a student that is tardy will incur an absence only for the hour in which the tardiness takes place. Trainer: There are advanced training courses offered in two-hour block sessions. Trainee: Is there a maximum amount of absences a student may incur before being forced to drop the course? Trainer: I would be glad to. Every day, there will be seven sessions, each lasting one hour. Trainee: So tardiness is not permitted? Trainee: Is there ever any deviation from this schedule of seven one-hour sessions?
