

Conditions for filing and registration of marks are regulated by domestic law and not this convention. Marks are prohibited if they imitate other registered marks or contain state emblems and official signs. The acceptance of a mark in the country of origin ensures its acceptance in other contracting states.