

Personal hygiene affects the external appearance and image; Attention to hygiene maintains good health and good appearance, increases the interest of others, and thus raises self-confidence, increases the degree of self-esteem and motivation, and neglecting personal hygiene exposes the owner to falling into depression, and reduces self-confidence.