

The events of this crime take place in the city of London, where one of the workers responsible for the demolition of a house in London found a skeleton that appears to be of a girl or a young child. This crime caused a stir in all London cities, and investigations continued to find the secrets of the crime.