

- o Subjective relativism: Subjective relativism is an ethical theory that asserts that moral judgments and principles are inherently subjective and dependent on individual perspectives and cultural contexts.