A story is whispered about in the desert: It is said to be a story of “The Haunting of Uranus”. According to tradition, whoever dares to walk on this desolate land under the heat of the sun is believed to have been cursed by some ancient spirits beneath the dunes. Others indicate that an alien presence stalks those who visit this place at night. Fear rules in this deserted area and anyone who goes near it can become one more chapter in the spine tingling legend of Uranus desert terror.
