

I will write about human rights activists and donations. In the future, we want to make better donations for those in need, and participating in fundraising activities shows how generous we are to improve each other. Fundraising means collecting money or collecting money and food for everyone and a larger people.