

This mountain village consists of orange stone buildings and a structure that looks more like an Italian mountain village than it would expect from the Arabian Peninsula