

for some common radiographic examinations, the EU has published imaging conditions for use in the visual grading evaluation of clinical images guidelines that give diagnostic requirements, criteria for radiation dose, and examples of good radiographic techniques to important anatomical structures that should be visible in the images.