

Invention is when someone creates something new, like a machine, a tool, or or even an idea. It's like coming up with an idea that didn't exist before. People invent things to solve problems or make life easier. Sometimes inventions change the world, like the light bulb or the telephone. Invention is important because it helps us progress and improve lives.